NANO SOMA[®] and Dogs

“My Maltese named Oliver (12 years old, approximately 10 lbs.) was diagnosed with Schiff–Sherrington disease and became paralyzed in his back legs. We took him to the vet and we were given a grim outlook about his future. The vet prescribed Oliver a steroid and sent him home, hoping for the best, but we were convinced that we were going to have to put him down by the end of that week since he was no longer able to walk – even with the steroid treatment.

Seeing that the steroid was offering no visible improvement after several days, we were preparing to have Oliver euthanized. At that point, Dr. Joseph Marasco, my father-in-law who is a biochemist and a vigorous proponent of Metadichol, suggested that I give him Metadichol daily. We started giving NANO SOMA to Oliver every day and, within a week, he was walking again (not well, but walking nonetheless).

Oliver is going on almost 10 months with the same daily amount of Metadichol, and he is walking better than he did two years ago... well before his diagnosis! We have seen an amazing turnaround with our little pup!”

Hypoglycemic puppy after NANO SOMA

“I had a litter of puppies and one was born hypoglycemic, with blood-red paws, face etc. Instead of using high fructose corn syrup to bring the glucose levels up, I used .75 mL of NANO SOMA. I put it on the puppy's lips and watched in awe as the pigment began to fill in the blood-red places. The puppy is developing normally with proper weight gain, nursing beautifully, and seems content. He looks just like his nine siblings now, six days later.”

Before & after two months on NANO SOMA

Eddie's owner, Anahata, shared the following below:

"Eddie was in trouble. Eddie had an accident and was paralyzed with an issue for which he was prescribed a good load of prednisone to help him have a better quality of life. The prednisone use gave him Cushing's disease, which resulted in him going 80% bald and having severe sores that continuously broke out on his skin and became infected. It was a downward spiral – so bad that a vet told me he wouldn't do any intervention on Eddie, only euthanasia.

I persevered and found an old vet who treated him with me. We got him stabilized. But Eddie was not long for this world, for sure. Eddie suffered many infections, and with a lower immune system, the wounds easily infected. Below is a photo of his bum before NANO SOMA, with its most recent infection."

“I began giving Eddie NANO SOMA in the morning and at night. Within four days, Eddie asked for his wheels to go outside!”

Within two months, his hair had grown back and where there were scars you can now see hair erupting from them! This is no lie. Look at Eddie’s pictures. You will see the difference in the shots of his rear, his hair growth and the clearing of his sores. He is happy, he looks three years younger (as you can see in his photo), and he is running around after the girls again three to four times a day!”

As a breeder of 57 years, Anahata uses NANO SOMA with many of her dogs. She continues below:

“Also, I have a dog named Lolli, short for Lollipop. She chewed her feet constantly and had been on allergy medicines for two years or so, which are dreadful long-term for her liver.

I started her on NANO SOMA at the same time as Eddie and added sprays on her feet whenever they started to turn pink, or whenever she chewed on them. She always gets immediate relief. And since the day we got NANO SOMA, we haven’t given her one drop of allergy medicine!”

Here, Anahata reveals that NANO SOMA is safe, even for newborn puppies:

“I had two puppies who had aspirated and that is what caused me to start giving the newborns NANO SOMA. One puppy was just a few ounces in weight. It’s not easy to give medicine to tiny puppies because they can stop eating and drinking, get pneumonia, and generally, die. However, I took this one little fellow and put him on the same NANO SOMA regimen as Eddie, two times a day, and he bounced back overnight!"

NANO SOMA can help dogs recover from surgeries and more:

"I have had three girls undergo C-sections. I sprayed NANO SOMA on all of their incision lines from surgery. Their bodies have recovered three times faster than I have ever seen before. The list goes on and on... bee stings and more!"

Below, this long-term breeder and dog-lover urges others to try NANO SOMA for their pets:

"I would give NANO SOMA to any dog or pet, just to ensure longevity and good health, much less animals who have immune issues or have undergone surgeries for wound care and so on. It has done the trick for so many things in my dog-filled household.

As a breeder and total lover of animals, especially dogs, I can't tell you what this means to me. We have been so blessed to learn about and now to be able to share NANO SOMA with others. I am now dedicated to helping people and animals discover the world of NANO SOMA.

So, try it, as my experience has been unbelievably remarkable. NANO SOMA is helping dogs and animals in general with the same issues as humans. When a dog suffers, often their people suffer right alongside them! But, with a product like this, there is no longer the need for drugs which injure animals' livers and which can create devastating side effects."

Anahata G., creator and breeder of Royal Frenchel bulldogs

"Our 10-year-old Pyrenean Mountain dog couldn't get up easily and was limited in her actions. Her hips were getting locked and movement was difficult. Walking was limited to twice a week for only half an hour. We thought that she wouldn't live very long because we didn't want to see her suffer.

After six months of NANO SOMA, we have a puppy back. The improvement began after the first month and continued. She is now 11 years old, taking daily walks for an hour, and just had her yearly vet review: ‘in brilliant shape for her breed and age.’”

Jen Bravery

This puppy was experiencing issues which included a lesion/pustule on their stomach and full body tremors. After a week of NANO SOMA:

“The nano tremors disappeared, the skin fully returned to balance, and there is no evidence of any issue. The entire underbelly looks completely normal and her behavior and motor skills are normal for a six-week-old puppy.”

“Our dog, Sophie, 13, had a really tough time...It began with a urinary tract infection and resulting liver and kidney issues. After increasing the amount of vitamin D, sulfate as MSM, NAC, and changing the type of food she consumed, she recovered. However, she was not the playful dog that we had known. In late November (three months prior), we began to supplement her diet with two sprays of Metadichol (NANO SOMA) on her food. She has now returned to her old self and has become very playful. Also...her lipomas are shrinking.”

Miles, another dog by the same owner, was suffering from a health issue which caused him to hobble on three legs, and it seemed to be worsening. With small amounts of Metadichol added to his food twice daily:

“Almost immediately, Miles’ activity level picked up. Where five months ago he would not be able to take a walk on a leash outside, he is now actively walking, running, and jumping. He now greets me by standing up on his back legs! He looks forward to daily walks.

I was told by his vet at a recent checkup in June 2021 that, exact quote: ‘there is nothing currently wrong with his joints.’ When playing with other dogs outdoors (we have four dogs), he is able to run and keep up with the fastest.

This is a startling turnaround in his behavior, and friends and family who know Miles are stunned by his transformation. Only a few months ago, he was a dog who had to slowly limp to his water bowl, and he is now outside chasing squirrels like a hound, and outrunning his younger peers. If nothing else, your product has given a new lease on an active life for Miles.”

Taz, above, was given a death sentence after showing clear signs of kidney failure. In not much time, he changed from “[a] frisky, bouncy, perpetually-moving, little ball of fur to a depressed and constantly tired shell of the dog he once was.”

With this health issue, dogs “appear to be in constant discomfort, and begin to refuse to eat. Taz showed all of these signs in the matter of a few weeks, and lost so much weight (almost two pounds off of an eight-pound dog!) that his ribs became prominent and were easily felt even under all of that fur. At the rate of this decline, it looked like that final trip to the animal hospital would be upon him within the next month.”

After beginning to use NANO SOMA, Taz’s owner, Dr. Joe Marasco, shared:

“On the third day of using NANO SOMA, a miracle in the making became apparent. His tail wagged again for the first time in weeks. He ran again for the first time in weeks. After one week, he began to act hungry once again and his food consumption doubled. Now, after four weeks, he is acting normal again, is hungry like he should be, and runs and plays with the other three dogs, his ‘cousins,’ that live in the same home with him.

If nothing else, with or without test data, it became obvious just after the third day of treatment that this tiny, gentle and loving dog was actually behaving like he felt better. Much better. Just this effect alone is incredible.”

Like with humans, NANO SOMA is most powerful with consistent use:

“My dog, Pepper, who has received five sprays of NANO SOMA every day for a year and a half, suddenly had a wart on her head drop off. Of course, one can't definitively say it was NANO SOMA, but the wart had been there for a few years. She's pushing 14 and a half, and she still runs with me.”

NANO SOMA® and Cats

Joey after taking NANO SOMA

“The transformation of my cat 'Joey' has shaken my world. Joey is 15 years old and has been declining in health for the last few years... Ten days ago, Joey appeared to have what might be considered a stroke or was in a coma. He was in an upstairs bedroom in a frozen state, lying on his stomach with his head between his paws. He was immobile for two hours. I moved him to a couch in the middle of the night where I gave him spine massages until the morning.

I gave him two sprays of NANO SOMA and nothing changed. At noon, I gave two more sprays, and by 3:00, he started to move and walk. He then began eating and drinking small amounts and continually improved throughout the day. In the next few days, he transformed into a normal older cat – walking quickly, alert, hungry, and roaming the neighborhood for the first time in a year.”

NANO SOMA[®] and Horses

Here, a horse received treatment of NANO SOMA three times a day for a very teary eye, which was due to a clogged lacrimal nasal duct. Each photo is a few weeks apart. Notice the vanishing of the edema with the white point.

“My mare suffered a nosebleed which could have been very complicated last Sunday and I decided to use NANO SOMA, which helped very much. I put [NANO SOMA] in her eye and sprayed it in the nostrils. It stopped the bleeding immediately. She’s been fine since the first application of NANO SOMA. I have used NANO SOMA on many of my horses with success.”

This horse had a skin issue for eight years. Note the vast improvement after just three weeks with the NANO SOMA Topical Gel – essentially NANO SOMA with edible Xanthan gum added.

The NANO SOMA Topical Gel helps produce pluripotent stem cells in the body, prompting its natural healing mechanisms. Applied on the skin, it can improve the appearance of cuts, wounds and skin imperfections, helping the body to maintain healthy, radiant skin.
